WELCOME TO DORVAL ESTATE

At Dorval Estate Winery, we believe organic farming supports healthier soil, cleaner water, thriving communities, and a more sustainable future for our planet. By avoiding harsh herbicides and pesticides, we cultivate vineyards naturally — resulting in wines of outstanding quality and expression.

Our own story began in the foothills of California's San Joaquin Valley, shaped by the echoes of our family's agricultural roots in Dorval, Montréal. Those legacies — heritage, courage, and the willingness to build something from nothing — guide everything we do.

As first-generation farmers, we chose a path that many wouldn't. But that's exactly why we took it. In a world obsessed with perfection and quick wins, we believe in patience, in possibility, and in the kind of change that comes only from rolling up your sleeves and daring to create something timeless. We're committed to protecting our foothill landscape, honoring the wildlife that depends on it, and nurturing biodiversity through regenerative farming. Every vine, every tree, every choice we make is an investment in the future — for our land, our community, and our children.
